Evolution Markets Launches Services to Assist Corporates in Meeting
Net Zero Carbon Emissions Goals

-- Corporate Environmental Solutions Division Will Leverage Renewable Energy and Carbon Offset Markets --

White Plains, NY (November 11, 2021): Evolution Markets announces the launch of a suite of services to help corporations and other institutions measure their carbon emissions, establish voluntary net-zero carbon emissions objectives, and leverage environmental markets to procure renewable energy and carbon offsets and removals. The new division, Evolution Markets Corporate Environmental Solutions, will serve customers across the U.S., Europe, Asia, and Latin America.

“More than 500 companies have taken net zero pledges over the last 24 months, with thousands more committing to reducing their carbon emissions in some form,” said Andrew Ertel, President and CEO of Evolution Markets Inc. “We are inspired as our clients take up this challenge and show the ambition to tackle climate change. The Corporate Environmental Solutions group is designed to leverage our two decades of experience to bring them along this important journey.”

The Corporate Environmental Solutions team will work with corporations, universities, governments, and other institutions throughout their process of setting and meeting net zero, carbon neutral, or other carbon emission reduction goals. The group will offer a dedicated and tailored set of tools and technical services, including:

- Carbon Footprint Measurement
- Carbon Impact and Sustainability Reporting
- UN Sustainable Development Goals Mapping
- Carbon Emissions Reduction Strategy Development
- Renewable Energy Procurement
- Renewable Energy Certificate Purchases
- Carbon Offset and Carbon Removal Investments and Retirements
